

Good Luck With Your Examinations

I extend my profound best wishes to all learners who will be candidates for the October/November final examinations.

I am sending a clarion call to all our parents, educators and community structures to provide the learners with the necessary support and motivation so that they can remain focused on their studies.

I therefore urge all role-players to create a favourable and conducive atmosphere for all of their children to focus on their school work.

My view is that we should all provide practical support to these candidates so that they in turn re-establish Mpumalanga to its position of a hard-working province.

In the same breath, I also call upon our learners to make special effort to concentrate on their school work until the last day of the examinations.

I also want to commend educators for the noble role they continue to play in making an extra effort in preparing our beloved learners.

I further exhort educators to keep on encouraging learners until the last school day.

I once again, take this time to extend my best wishes to all learners for successful and outstanding results.

Ayihlome Ifunde!
